RUTHERFORD COUNTY SUICIDE PREVENTION COALITION

TrustPoint Hospital
1009 North Thompson Lane
Murfreesboro, TN 37129

Meetings convene at 5:15 PM on the first Tuesday of each month, allowing for holidays. For details, check the TSPN meeting schedule on the website.

For more information, contact TSPN at tspn@spn.org or (615) 297-1077.

The Network works to eliminate the stigma of suicide, educate the community about the warning signs of suicide, and ultimately reduce the rate of suicide in our state.

The Network goals are to coordinate and implement the Tennessee Suicide Prevention Strategies, based on the U.S. Surgeon General’s “Call to Action to Prevent Suicide.”

Who should be there?
- People concerned about family and friends
- Council members, police and law enforcement staff
- Advocates and community volunteers
- Workers in health, welfare or justice
- Emergency service workers
- Counselors, teachers and church workers
- Mental health practitioners
- Representatives from state departments

The printing of this booklet was made possible thanks to the generous contributions of the Tennessee Suicide Prevention Network.
Tennessee Suicide Facts

Suicide is the tenth-leading cause of death in Tennessee, killing more people on an annual basis than homicide, drunk driving, or AIDS. Each year in Tennessee more than 950 people including every age group, race, geographic area, and income level end their lives due to suicide. Tennessee’s suicide rate is usually 20 percent higher than the national average.

Rural areas of Tennessee generally experience higher suicide rates than metropolitan or urban areas due to lower levels of social integration and reduced availability and access to public and mental health resources.

While all suicide occurs within all age groups, people 65 and older have a suicide rate far above the state average, with the highest rates among those 85 and older.

Substance Abuse and Suicide

- According to the International Handbook of Suicide and Attempted Suicide (John Wiley and Sons, Ltd., 2000), between 25 and 55 percent of suicide victims have drugs and/or alcohol in their systems at the time of their deaths. The rise in drug abuse observed during the past thirty years is believed a contributing factor to the increase in youth suicide, particularly among males.
- Contrary to popular belief, major depression is more likely to develop after someone develops alcoholism rather than before.
- Psychological autopsies of suicide victims with substance abuse problems have shown that:
  - four-fifths had previously communicated suicidal intent through words or behavior
  - two-thirds also suffered from a major depressive disorder
  - half were unemployed
  - half had serious medical problems
  - and roughly one-third had attempted suicide previously (Murphy, 2000).
- A study published in the American Journal of Epidemiology found that the effects of substance use disorders on suicide attempts were not entirely due to the effects of co-occurring mental disorders, suggesting that substance abuse in and of itself is a suicide risk factor (Borges et al, 2000).
- Substance abuse can involve legal drugs, such as prescriptions, and misuse of these drugs has been linked to increased suicide risk—especially if combined with alcohol or illegal drugs (Harris and Barraclough, 1998).
- Teens who engage in high-risk behaviors (use of drugs, alcohol, and tobacco, along with sexual activity) report significantly high rates of depression, suicidal thoughts, and suicide attempts, according to a 2004 report funded by the National Institute of Drug Abuse. The report suggests that primary care physicians who find their adolescent patients are engaging in drugs or sex should consider screening them for depression and suicide risk.
- Men with a substance abuse disorder are 2.3 times more likely to die by suicide than those without one. Women with a substance abuse disorder are 6.5 times more likely to die by suicide than those without (Igen et al., 2010).
- Additionally, binge drinking among teens has been identified as a predictive factor of actual suicide attempts as compared to suicidal thoughts, even after accounting for high levels of depression and stress—possibly because binge drinking episodes frequently precede serious suicide attempts (Windle et al, 2004).
- Up to 7 percent of alcoholics will eventually die by suicide, with middle-aged and older alcoholics at especially high risk (Conner and Duberstein, 2004).
- Both suicide and substance abuse have been noted as contributing factors to rising mortality rates among middle-aged Caucasians in the U.S. (Case and Deaton, 2015).

What to Do

- When substance abuse co-occurs with depression and/or suicidal tendencies, both the depression and the addiction need to be treated—one affects the other.
- Interpersonal crises and financial difficulties are common here and should be taken very seriously—this population is already at high suicide risk.
- There is a real possibility of a suicide attempt while the person is intoxicated. Careful monitoring, removal of lethal means, or arrangement for an inpatient stay may head off a possible attempt.

Veterans’ Resources

The Tennessee Suicide Prevention Network is working with Veteran’s Administration across the state to address suicide prevention among veterans and other members of the military community.

Between 2009 and 2013, there were 952 suicides among veterans in Tennessee, making up 20% of the total number of suicide deaths in our state.

The 2013 Department of Defense Suicide Event Report found that roughly 40% of military personnel who died by suicide had at least one psychiatric disorder at the time of their death.

Suicide Signs Unique to Veterans

Experts on suicide prevention say for veterans there are some particular signs to watch for:

- Calling old friends, particularly military friends, to say goodbye
- Cleaning a weapon that they may have as a souvenir
- Visits to graveyards
- Obsession with news coverage of current military operations
- Wearing their uniform or part of their uniform, boots, etc., when not required
- Frequent talking about how honorable it is to be a soldier
- Sleeping more (sometimes the decision to commit suicide brings a sense of peace of mind, and potential victims sleep more to withdraw)
- Becoming overprotective of children
- Standing guard over the house; this may take the form of staying up while everyone is asleep staying up to watch over the house, or obsessive locking of doors and windows
- Stopping dosage of prescribed medication or hoarding medications
- Hoarding alcohol; this may include wine as well as hard alcohol
- Sudden spending sprees, buying gifts for family members and friends “to remember me by”
- Defensive speech: “you wouldn’t understand,” etc.
- Failure to talk to other people or make eye contact

Where to Get Help

Veterans who need help immediate counseling should call the hotline run by Veterans Affairs professionals at 1-800-273-TALK and press “1”, identifying themselves as military veterans. Staff members are specially trained to take calls from military veterans and its staffed 24 hours a day, everyday. While all operators are trained to help veterans, some are also former military personnel.

You may also contact Lesley Murray, Suicide Prevention Coordinator at the Tennessee Valley VA Nashville campus, at (615) 873-6074, or Lesley.Murray@va.gov.

The Tennessee National Guard, in coordination with the Jason Foundation, Inc., and E4 Health, has created the “Guard Your Buddy” phone app to give the men, women, and families in the Tennessee National Guard immediate access to critical life resources, on-demand counseling, and on-call suicide prevention. You can download the app at http://guardyourbuddy.com.

Untreated depression is the #1 cause of suicide.

Warning Signs

Know the signs. You can make a difference.

- Threatening or talking of wanting to hurt or kill him/herself
- Looking for ways to kill him/herself by seeking access to firearms, available pills, or other means
- Talking or writing about death, dying, or suicide
- Displaying hopelessness
- Expressing rage or uncontrolled anger
- Acting recklessly or engaging in risky activities, seemingly without thinking
- Expressing feelings of being trapped—like there’s no way out
- Increasing alcohol or drug use
- Withdrawing from friends and family
- Exhibiting anxiety and/or agitation
- Experiencing disturbances in sleep patterns (e.g., unable to sleep or sleeping all the time)
- Displaying dramatic mood changes
- Giving away prized possessions
- History of previous suicide attempts or suicidal behaviors

Frequently, suicidal persons:

- Can’t stop the pain
- Can’t think clearly
- Can’t make decisions
- Can’t see any way out
- Can’t sleep, eat, or work
- Can’t get out of the depression
- Can’t make the sadness go away
- Can’t see the possibility of change
- Can’t see themselves as worthwhile
- Can’t get someone’s attention
- Can’t seem to get control
Please feel free to use the depression screening tool below to see if you or a loved one needs help. Make as many copies as needed.

Programs for Adults

QPR (Question, Persuade, Refer) training helps both professionals and lay caregivers become more comfortable, competent and confident when dealing with persons at risk. Participants learn how their own attitudes about suicide can affect their efforts to help. They gain the knowledge and skill to recognize and estimate suicide risk, and learn how to intervene through role-playing and supervised simulations and how to create crisis networks out of existing local resources.

The Columbia Suicide Severity Rating Scale (C-SSRS) is a reliable, scientifically proven, and easily administered suicide risk assessment tool for use in a wide variety of settings with both adults and adolescents. It assesses the full range of evidence-based ideation and behavior, and requires no mental health training in order to use it.

CALM: Counseling on Access to Lethal Means

CALM is a 2-hour workshop designed to teach mental health counselors how to help clients at risk for suicide, as well as their families, be safer by reducing their access to lethal means, particularly (but not exclusively) firearms.

Programs for Youth

The Jason Foundation, Inc. (JFI) is a nationally recognized provider of educational curricula and training programs for students, educators, youth workers and parents. JFI's programs build an awareness of the national health problem of youth suicide, educate participants in recognizing the “warning signs or signs of concern”, provide information on identifying at-risk behavior and elevated-risk groups, and direct participants to local resources to deal with possible suicidal ideation. JFI's student curriculums are presented in the “third-person” perspective—how to help a friend.

The Erasing the Stigma program of Mental Health America of Middle Tennessee (MHAMT) provides educational and interactive presentations for children and youth to address concerns such as bullying, body image and self esteem, stress and depression, and other mental health and wellness-related topics. It offers several age-appropriate mental health and wellness models (some involving I.C. Hope, the program’s ambassador and mascot), available free of charge for schools, churches, or clubs.

Tennessee Voices for Children offers free and voluntary mental health screenings to youth in Middle Tennessee via its Youth Screen program. This user-friendly, voluntary, and confidential computer-based screening instrument helps screeners identify mental health, suicide, and substance abuse risks that could interfere with health, well-being, and overall functioning.
Advice For Survivors

- Even if you feel that you cannot survive, know that you can.
- Feelings of shock, guilt, blame, anger, relief, depression, and isolation are common responses to grief. These emotions can be overwhelming but know that they are normal.
- Each survivor grieves in his own way and at his own pace.
- Seek out people who are willing to listen without judging.
- Remember that many people are affected by suicide.
- Seek professional help if needed.
- Take care of yourself—physically, mentally, emotionally, and spiritually.
- This is the hardest thing you will ever do. Be patient and do not try to do it by yourself.
- Remember that HEALING TAKES TIME.

SOSL Can Help

- Survivors of Suicide Loss group meetings are open to anyone who has lost a loved one through suicide or who is helping someone who has lost a loved one through suicide.
- Survivors need a safe place to explore their feelings of grief and anger, to raise questions and doubts.
- We are here whenever the survivor is ready for us and for as long as he or she needs us.
- We understand that the grieving process is hard work.
- Members have all been there and are often the only ones who can truly understand the survivor.
- Survivors can attend an SOSL meeting the day of the funeral, a few months after, or even years later.
- Survivors are free to talk or just listen.
